Ferti-gation - (the method of supplying nutrients to foliage through the irrigation system).

Fertigation provides nutrient rich water to the plant. It is good for foliar absorption as well as absorption through the roots. As the nutrient rich water leaches into the soil it causes the roots to follow. Over time an increase in root mass and density will be seen. This allows for healthier foliage that naturally resists disease, pestilence, heat, and drought.

It is virtually impossible, using any other method, to feed as effectively as the Yard Feeder®.

Using the Yard Feeder® can save you hundreds of dollars a year through reduced fertilizer consumption and significant water savings.
